The following chart shows how your contribution compares to other team members, as assessed by your peers.

Distribution of individual marks

The following chart depicts the distribution of marks obtained by all students. Your mark sits within the yellow bin.

Thing done well by the team

Team moving forward well and seem keen and excited. Preparing for Open Day. Have beta program well thought out. Getting quite conservative about function creep. I am impressed by where they are. The app looks clean. They seem to see where it fits into the activity spectrum, and recognise there are other competitors locally. Embraking on planning for automated testing. Is this too late in the cycle might be a concern.

Things the team needs to do or improve

No real issues. They are still a bit casual on the surface about planning, but they are getting there,

Tutor feedback specifically for you

Quick and quite sharp. Compliments other more laid back members
